

THE COLOUR BOX NEWS

For the little learners at
The Colour Box Montessori

We are very proud of the things we achieved this week. It was a great combination of getting our hands messy (like really messy!) , using our listening skills, learning new words, experiencing new things and of course having fun while learning! We went to Space wearing our space helmets, looked at the Stars, landed on playdough moon, 'visited' the Greenwich Royal Observatory on a virtual tour and looked at the planets and stars using the telescope we made ourselves! We listened to 'Mythodea', the music for the NASA mission in 2001, we traced the planet names and listened to space related nursery rhymes (did some dancing too!). Our amazing Space display is now completed and even though we are moving to a different topic, we will still have the opportunity to continue exploring Space and its wonderful mysteries.

Vocabulary introduced: planetarium, observatory, astronomy, astronauts, telescope, satellite, Neil Armstrong, space station

NEXT WEEK AT THE COLOUR BOX...

it's okay to feel

your feelings

Next week it's Mental Health Awareness week and a great opportunity for us to focus on our wellbeing, talk about the things that make us happy and what's really important to us. We are going to relax doing yoga, become little artists while listening to classical music in our Atelier, express our thoughts and feelings in group discussions, do some meditation listening to relaxing rainforest and beach sounds, make a Feeling chart to observe our feelings during the whole week and we will try to think of an act of kindness and what we could do to make someone else happy.

STEM activity: What lives in dirt? (Explorative science outdoors)

Cooking activity: Making cheese and vegetable sandwiches!
